is skilful in picking a suit, but wiser in selecting a curve. With a pen he is dangerous, but he is mightier on the sward, and though he has performed prodigies for the films, he never showed to better advantage than yesterday, when he pitched the Giants to victory by a score of 3 to 2 n an eleven-inning game against the Braves.

Heartened by this success, the Giants took the second game also, and McGraw's men are now just three points behind Boston. Tesreau was the pitcher in the second game, and the score was 5 to 3.

runs go, but it sufficed to score the hitter and another runner as well. From then on until the end Matty permitted himself to be solved for just four hits. Within the month it was stated that Matty would pitch no more because of shooting pains in his left arm. The pains of yesterday were with the batters. Lame back was the most common complaint among the Braves. Five fanned on slow bails.

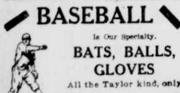

Pat Ragan was Matty's opponent. Shooting pains would never get Pat into the papers. In fact, practically no space at all is reserved for accounts of his health. It may be said, however, that his insurance company need play involved a nice scoring Probably the majority recorded lay as a fielder's choice on the d that Fitzpatrick got a man at and therefore made no error, but matter of fact, when the ball ed Schmidt Fletcher had crossed late and ended the game. The was turned and Fitzpatrick's was left in the outer darkness and the box score. Ston's two runs came in the fourth, Smith doubled to left and came on Magee's home run, which y cleared the right field wall. Malle followed with a single and second, but got no further. These hits were the first safe drives by the entrance into major basedan of the Federal League.

The announcement was made in connection with a netition seeking dissolution of the injunction which prevents Armando Marsans from playing with the St. Louis Feds. Judge Landis declined to dissolve the injunction, which was granted by Judge Sanborn and the Louis and the san area area but granted The Buffalo Feds in St. Louis a year ago, but granted leave to file an intervening petition by means of which Marsans's case will be decided with the others of the same them being wild throws by the local battery, where the use of pinch hitters caused frequent changes.

Chicago Whales Come from Behind and Win in Last Innings.

Tinker's men trailed far behind the the last three innings. The final score was 10 to 5, with Brooklyn on the losing end.

It was "Fane' Day" at the park and 10,000 persons accepted the invitation of the Wards to see the contest free of charge. The music was furnished by the youthful band from St. Vincent's Home. James A. Gilmore, president of the league; William E. Robinson, part owner of the Buffalo team, and Pat Powers and Harry F. Sinclair, owners of the Newark team, were among the spectators.

Three Brooklyn pitchers were used, the visitors touching them up for
